Activists from Nicaragua tell SF audience of country's violent turmoil. Claudia Ochoa ...

In the above post, George Henriquez, one of those trained by Maradiaga, was in San Francisco soon after the coup attempt, telling US citizens how violent Nicaragua is while failing to mention his part in the violence.

Photo taken from video of Maradiaga (front right) with the leadership of the thugs who had taken over the Technical University UPOLI during the first days of the coup attempt. On the right, the person next to Maradiaga is Pio Arellano who is waving a pistol. UPOLI was one of the major centers of violent operations in Managua; the other was the UNAN (National Autonomous University), where Dora María Téllez was reported to oversee operations. This video is available in a series of investigative documentaries on Youtube called: 180 degrees of Truth, by Juventud Presidente.

On September 6, 2018 at the United Nations, Maradiaga testified against the US. On his right is the US representative to the UN, Nikki Haley. Far Right is Carlos Trujillo who was US representative to the Organization of American States.
